Strike Violence Trials Will Cost Orange County $200,000 SHIPS RACE TO AID OF CITIZENS

HEARINGS TO COVER SIX MONTHS

Judge Allen Says 1100 Jurors May Be Used In Court Here

A six-month trial, costing $200,000 or more, looms if the 116 Mexican citrus strikers who were bound to the superior court Monday on rioting charges are brought to trial. Superior Judge James L. Allen made this estimate today.

Meanwhile sheriff's officers and California highway patrolmen today sought William Velarde, asserted radical leader, who for a week has blocked settlement of the strike, on a warrant charging failure to appear in court to answer a traffic citation.

Added Expense
Another trial, of 13 Mexicans already arraigned in Judge Allen's court on rioting charges, is set for July 29, and may prove costly and lengthy.

Judge Allen pointed out that a similar trial at Visalia about a year ago consumed six months of court time and cost $50,000.

To arraign the 116 alleged rioters will require a larger hall than any of the superior courtrooms, Judge Allen said, and it probably will be necessary to rent the American Legion hall or some other auditorium.

1192 Jurors
Actual trial charges will include payment for jurors for their time in court at $3 per day, and preparation of volumes of shorthand transcripts of testimony.

With 116 defendants, defense attorneys will be allowed 500 challenges in selecting a jury, and the district attorney will be allowed a like number, with the possibility that 1192 persons may have to be subpoenaed and called on the venire before a jury can be selected. Defendants are allowed five challenges each and 10 challenges collectively.

If defendants use a variety of defenses, Judge Allen explained, (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

U. S. OFFICER ATTACKED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—U. S. Commissioner David B. Head, slugged with a blackjack and brass knuckles in his home, was recovering today from painful injuries while Department of Justice agents hunted one or more mysterious assailants.

Whether the attack was perpetrated by some of the hundreds of dangerous criminals who have faced Head during his 12 years as U. S. commissioner here, or possibly by criminal sympathizers, was not determined.

Dr. Walter Kittle took six stitches to close a four-inch laceration on Head's chin. An abrasion was found on the back of the head.

The federal official said he was assaulted as he entered his South Pasadena residence shortly after 7 p. m. last night. He had dismissed his chauffeur and gone alone into the house.

As he passed from a hallway to the living room, the dim outlines of what appeared to be two men rose up. The attack was so sudden he could not make out their identity.

For an hour Head lay unconscious until he was discovered by his negro houseboy. Nothing had been taken from his pockets and no valuables were missing from the house, investigators said.

Hungry Snake Cuts Down Bossy's Milk Production

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A weird story of a snake caught in the act of milking a cow was told by an eye-witness at the Arthur Gwinner farm today.

Belief that there might be some truth in the antiquated cow-milking snake tales, said Gwinner, a Jersey county farmer, led to solution of the week-old mystery of his place.

Neighbors who doubted Gwinner's story were shown a huge blacksnake full of gunshots as evidence, and told that old bossy no longer comes in half-milked.

For a week the cow had been minus a portion of its milk at milking time. Gwinner stated, he decided a snake was responsible and armed Bud Skinner, a hired man, with a shotgun to keep watch.

Skinner said when the herd approached a spring for a drink the snake slid out of a stump, its head elevated, and wriggled toward the cow that was under guard. He said the reptile coiled about a hind leg and fastened its mouth to one of the teats.

The hired man beat the snake off with a club and then shot it.

HEAT DUE IN CORN BELT

Temperatures to Soar Again Throughout Drought Area

CHICAGO, (AP)—A new heat wave, with temperatures from 100 to 105 degrees, will spread over the corn belt tomorrow, government meteorologist J. R. Lloyd predicted today.

Lloyd said the hundred mark would be exceeded in Kansas, Nebraska, Western Iowa and Northwestern Missouri. States to the east, he said, could expect the mercury to climb to the lower and middle nineties.

It was warming up today in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Southern Nebraska, Illinois, Indiana and lower Michigan, he said.

There were no showers in sight for any of the north central states except Michigan and the area immediately around the Great Lakes, said Lloyd.

A cool wave from the north will bring lower temperatures tomorrow to the northern tier of central states, including northwestern Wisconsin, northwestern Nebraska, Minnesota and North Dakota, the forecaster said.

Lloyd added that the great northwest drought area has had little respite from the heat and aridity.

MILLION MEN IN UNION IS AIM

Mine Workers Walk Out On A. F. L. in Fight On Consolidation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A disclosure that unionization of 1,000,000 workers was the aim of the present campaign to organize the steel industry was made today as informed sources said John L. Lewis and the American Federation of Labor were near a parting of the ways.

Phillip Murray, active head of the steel organization campaign, revealed the figure, almost double the objective previously announced.

The steel campaign is a major part of the general drive of Lewis' United Mine Workers and 11 affiliated unions to bring mass production workers in each industry into one big union, regardless of craft lines.

The fight of the issues between Lewis and the craft union dominated A. F. of L. executive council appeared near a definite break.

Angrily, Lewis served notice on the A. F. of L. executive council last night that members of his committee for industrial organization would not obey a council summons to stand trial for "insurrection."

This led labor leaders generally to predict today that the council would vote at its next meeting, beginning Aug. 3, to suspend (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

GIRL'S DEATH INSIDE JOB

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Authorities followed a new lead today in their investigation of the slaying of Helen Clevenger, 18-year-old New York girl, questioning three employees of the hotel where she was shot to death.

Sheriff Laurence Brown declined to reveal nature of the evidence, but said Daniel Gaddy, 28-year-old night watchman, is "the key to the whole case."

Edward Fleming, a bellboy, and L. R. Roddy, elevator operator, were the other two hotel employees detained for questioning. Each is about 25 years old.

"When Gaddy talks," the sheriff said, "We will know something, and I think he is getting ready to talk pretty soon."

"I am convinced the Clevenger murder was an 'inside job' and that the murderer is right here in Asheville now."

Authorities continued to hold Mark Wollner, 35-year-old violinist and Mildred Ward, 16-year-old Asheville girl, who corroborated Wollner's alibi that he was at home last Wednesday night when Miss Clevenger was criminally assaulted, mutilated, and killed.

Brown said Gaddy failed to punch the time clock when passing the second floor—on which Miss Clevenger's room was located—on his rounds at 1 a. m., last Thursday morning, the approximate time officers believe the girl was slain.

Desert Workers Drink Salt Water To Keep Cool

Drink salt water and keep cool.

That's the way to forestall heat exhaustion. Salt water is the favorite hot weather drink of 8000 workers on the Metropolitan aqueduct. Each man drinks at least one glass of water daily, which contains a teaspoonful of salt.

Heat exhaustion, it was explained, by aqueduct officials, results from lowering of the saline content in the blood stream following excessive perspiration. On the 300 mile front, most of which crosses the desert, there has not been a single heat fatality during the present hot spell. Officials attribute the record to the drinking of salt water.

DRIVE CAREFULLY—DON'T KILL!

Neven E. Ward, 43, of 602 East Chestnut street, was instantly killed and another man is near death following a terrific crash near Costa Mesa at 7 o'clock this morning, in which a roadster struck and nearly demolished a large truck.

Ed Stokes, 26, 1019 North Ross street, Santa Ana, is near death in the county hospital and John Armstrong, 32, 823 West Second street, is suffering from fractured ribs, head lacerations and shock as a result of the crash, which occurred at Harbor boulevard and Talbert road.

The car in which the three men were riding struck and overturned a bottled water truck driven by C. H. Geisert, 23, 308 East Ponoma street, Santa Ana, according to Highway Patrol Officer Harry Wild, who investigated the accident. The driver of the roadster apparently failed to make a boulevard stop, he reported.

The victim's body was taken to the Dixon mortuary in Costa Mesa.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Vina Snyder, 74, Buena Park, will be conducted tomorrow morning at the Hilgenfeld mortuary, Anaheim. Mrs. Snyder was fatally injured Friday when she was struck by a car as she walked along Orangeflower avenue.

The death of Joe Stewart, 48, Huntington Beach pedestrian, killed Monday as he walked across the highway, will be investigated tomorrow afternoon in an inquest at Huntington Beach.

INGELS TO BE HERE SOON

Ray Ingels, director of the state department of motor vehicles, is expected in Santa Ana late this week on an inspection tour, it was learned today.

Ingels is making a tour of the state to hold conferences with California Highway patrol units.

Added interest will attach to the visit of Ingels in view of the fact that he has assured Assemblyman James B. Utt that Santa Ana will have a new highway patrol office.

Mexico Faced With Darkness

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—A threat of a general strike by the National Federation of Electrical Workers in event the power strike in the capital is not settled within 10 days was announced today by the federation.

All states, except Sonora, Tabasco, Chiapas and Lower California will be without lights in that case.

A conference between representatives of strikers and the Mexican Light and Power company at the presidential palace drew nearer hopes of a quick ending of the present walkout.

BERLIN, (AP)—Hans Kerel, head of the Nazi department of church affairs, today took further steps toward his goal of smashing what he has termed church rebels.

On his orders, typewriters and duplicating machines in the Berlin offices of what is known as the oppositional synod were seized. The oppositional, or Protestant confessional, synod repeatedly has defied Nazi efforts to reorganize the faith in Germany.

BOYS ADMIT KIDNAPING

Vance And DeBord Plead Guilty to Attack on Taxi Driver

Prison bars or the noose were the two alternatives before Gerald Vance, 18, of Chino, and Fulton Edgar DeBord, 18, of Ontario today. They pleaded guilty before Superior Judge James L. Allen on charges of kidnaping Harold "Bud" Marshall, Laguna Beach taxi driver, on June 16.

The pair had pleaded not guilty and were to go on trial before a jury next Monday. Don Harwood, attorney associated with John Martell, who was appointed by the court for defense, appeared with the pair in court today.

Sets Hearing
Judge Allen set Monday, July 27, for a hearing at which time he will determine whether life imprisonment without parole or death by hanging shall be the penalty. There is no other alternative. The hearing will be conducted in the same form as a trial, but will be somewhat briefer.

In case Judge Allen decides on the death penalty, the case automatically will be carried to the state supreme court for review, under a new California law.

DeBord and Vance were grimaced this morning as they withdrew their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty. Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis moved to dismiss robbery charges after the pair admitted the kidnaping.

Vance Hired Cab
Marshall is still paralyzed from the waist down from the effects of a bullet hole in his spine, inflicted by Vance as the latter and DeBord attempted to rob the taxi driver in lonely Laguna canyon.

At a preliminary hearing at Marshall's bedside at St. Joseph's hospital, the victim testified that Vance engaged his cab on the pretext he was looking for a house in the canyon. DeBord followed in an automobile.

Marshall said he had a premonition that the cab at the time, Vance, Marshall said, then drew a revolver and fired, the bullet entering Marshall's side and fracturing a vertebra in his spine.

On the taxi driver's plea that he would die if left alone in the canyon, the pair returned to Laguna Beach and dumped Marshall behind a sandwich stand, where his groans attracted aid.

DeBord was arrested at Huntington Beach when he asked officer about Marshall's condition. Vance was traced to Medford, Ore., and arrested a week later.

Mercury Ready For Toboggan

Lowered temperatures last night and today brought a measure of coolness to Santa Anas as the city's eight-day heat wave began to break, after consistently reaching high points of 94 to 101 degrees during the day and never cooling below 70 degrees at night.

Yesterday's maximum of 94 degrees was touched at 12:15 p. m. and again at 5 p. m. Between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning, the mercury dropped to 66 degrees, and had not risen above 88 degrees at 11 a. m. today.

Vertebra Fractured
Vance, he said, slugged him, and the pair grappled, with DeBord coming up to the cab at the time. Vance, Marshall said, then drew a revolver and fired, the bullet entering Marshall's side and fracturing a vertebra in his spine.

On the taxi driver's plea that he would die if left alone in the canyon, the pair returned to Laguna Beach and dumped Marshall behind a sandwich stand, where his groans attracted aid.

DeBord was arrested at Huntington Beach when he asked officer about Marshall's condition. Vance was traced to Medford, Ore., and arrested a week later.

Revolt Rages Throughout Nation; San Sebastian Is Recaptured

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Officials of two Spanish cities have advised American consular representatives that they cannot guarantee the safety of Americans and other foreigners.

This word was received by the state department shortly after Secretary Hull, at a press conference, had indicated a possibility that the generally uncertain European situation might impel the United States to re-establish a naval squadron in European waters.

The first of two American warships which have been dispatched to Spanish waters to pick up refugees cannot reach its destination, Gibraltar, before Friday, officials said. Preparations are being rushed that the other to depart tomorrow midnight from Cherbourg, France, for Bilbao, on the northern coast of Spain near striforous San Sebastian, summer home of American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers.

Comal Lynn W. Franklin reported to the American embassy at Madrid from Barcelona that he had been informed on the afternoon of July 21 by the President of the Catalonia government, of which Barcelona is the capital, that the Spanish revolution made it impossible for him to give any assurances for the safety of Americans and other foreigners in the city.

Reporting directly to the state department via Gibraltar, Consul George M. Graves, at Malaga, said that the civil governor there had acknowledged his inability to extend effective protection to foreign nationals, French and British consuls.

Bitter Battles
A victory on land and a disaster at sea for the Leftist Spanish government were reported today as bullets whined an accompaniment to bitter battles for supremacy between loyal and rebel forces from San Sebastian to Spanish Morocco.

Scene of a two-day struggle, the northern Bay of Biscay resort of San Sebastian was said by Reuters' (British) News Agency to have been recaptured from rebels who had held it since yesterday morning.

NEW CASE OF PARALYSIS IS FOUND

Fullerton Boy Stricken; County Authorities Issue Warning

With discovery of a fifth case of infantile paralysis at Fullerton yesterday afternoon, Dr. W. K. Sutherland, county health officer, today issued a warning to parents to keep their children away from gatherings where children congregate.

The victim is Warren Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowen, of 302 South Amerige street, Fullerton. He was taken to the county hospital for treatment.

"Because within the last few weeks several cases of infantile paralysis have developed in sections of the county far removed from each other, it is probable that the infective virus of the disease is at present scattered over a fairly wide territory," reported Dr. Sutherland.

"For this reason I feel it wise to caution parents against allowing their children to attend any gathering where a considerable number of other children are grouped together.

"In such large groups, it is quite likely that one or more individuals are capable of transferring the infection to others because they are either in the early stages of the disease or because they are carriers. In the past few weeks we have had five cases of infantile paralysis and one death. This number by no means constitutes an epidemic, but an epidemic may result unless reasonable precautions are taken in time."

Boy Scouts at Camp Rokili, where Allan Day Cook, 11, developed the disease, will be held in quarantine until next Tuesday, Dr. Sutherland said. No new cases have developed in the camp. The Cook boy died July 19.

MORE ABOUT SPAIN

American embassy in Paris reported it could not get in touch with him, as wires were cut.

Control of the city was reported uncertain.

Earlier, dispatches had described an attack on the resort by 2000 miners loyal to the government.

Shell La Linea

But a radio broadcast from Seville, Spain, picked up in Lisbon, Portugal, described the sinking of three Spanish ships, bombarding Cadiz, by rebel airplanes.

Spanish warships opened a heavy bombardment of the rebel stronghold of La Linea, aided by airplanes, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Gibraltar, received in London, said.

Hours earlier, several Spanish warships had anchored in Gibraltar harbor, and it was believed they planned to bombard rebels in Algeiras.

The United States battleship Oklahoma was ordered to sail for Bilbao, Spain, at midnight tomorrow to pick up any American refugees. The heavy cruiser Quincy, now enroute to England, was ordered to Gibraltar for the same purpose.

Protect Foreigners

The worst bitter fighting of the day appeared to center at San Sebastian, the summer residence of American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers and other foreign diplomats, but disorders were reported in progress throughout northern Catalonia.

The government today named General Areneguer, former head of the Catalan civil guard, to be military commander-in-chief of Catalonia.

The government established a special guard in the consulate and in homes of foreigners, announcing "we must not compromise our victory. Foreigners and their goods must be placed under the safeguard of the government of the people."

The British crown colony of Gibraltar was threatened with a food shortage today as all supplies from there were cut off by the rebellion.

The belief grew that loyal Spanish warships intended to shell rebel strongholds along the coast.

American Warships

Frightened refugees poured into Gibraltar to receive the protection of the British flag.

A possibility that the generally uncertain European situation might impel the United States to re-establish a naval squadron in European waters was indicated today by Secretary Hull.

The secretary projected that, as two American men-of-war raced against time for Spanish waters so they might evacuate Nationals if that was necessary.

The secretary's suggestion was in response to questions of newsmen concerning the dispatching of two vessels to the strife-torn European country.

Madrid Threatened

Vera, east of San Sebastian, still was held by the rebels this morning.

Col. Luis De Villanueva, in charge of the Campaña insurgent column which marched to the north border, said another rebel column was within 40 miles of Madrid and that it was traveling slowly, picking up reinforcements as it moved.

"We expect to take Madrid in two or three days or possibly longer," said Colonel De Villanueva. "We are in no hurry because we want to do the job right."

"Our plan is proceeding like clockwork now."

Villanueva added: "The southern army of (rebels) is advancing slowly toward Madrid because it is flanked by government troops from Alicante and Malaga."

"General Milla has recruited 20,000 armed citizens and peasants who are reinforcing his column as it proceeds south."

The rebel column confirmed reports that the rebellion originally had been planned to break out in northern Spain July 26, but that northern Spain July 26, but that prematurely.

"But I held off," Rettenmaier said.

But If They Aren't Guns, What Killed W. W. Soldiers?

When is a machine gun not a machine gun?

And is C. C. Morris, who has several for souvenir purposes a criminal or a souvenir collector?

Morris and Police Officer Hunter Leach have been rather tangled in the question for several weeks. They're not out of the woods yet.

It seems the guns are World War models, and have been plugged to make them incapable of being fired. Morris casually asked if it was all right to have them. Leach looked up the law and decided a gun that wouldn't shoot wasn't a gun, and said so.

But when he checked with C. S. Morrill, superintendent of the division of criminal identification at Sacramento, Morrill replied that the guns might be confiscated by police, since they were not licensed.

Possession of the guns is a violation of law.

Today Leach had the law books out again. Morris still has his guns—or are they guns?

Months of Evidence

Six months of testimony will make a stack of transcripts that will look like the Congressional library. Then if the defendants appeal, as appears likely from previous cases in which International Labor Defense has taken a hand, it will be necessary to prepare a transcript of all testimony for each of the 116 defendants, plus copies for the county clerk, the attorney general, and the court of appeal.

Velarde, asserted leader of radical laborites, was hunted by Orange county sheriff's and police officers today.

The warrant asking his arrest, however, was not on vagrancy charges preferred against him a week ago, but for failure to appear in court on a minor traffic charge.

Issues Warrant

He is free on $1000 bail on charges of vagrancy, and this case was continued to Aug. 6 this morning by Justice of the Peace H. L. Spence of Fullerton. One continuance already has been granted on the traffic citation—for assertedly driving in the wrong highway lane—and Velarde was scheduled to appear this morning. When he did not appear, Judge Spence issued a warrant and set bail at $250.

The settlement remained remote today. Growers hung to their statement of yesterday, in which they abruptly cut off negotiations, charging radical interference with Mexicans here. Consul Ricardo Hill was expected in Santa Ana again from Los Angeles, but further developments were doubtful.

"I have a system," he confided. "When I have company, I make them bring a box of food. So I keep well stocked and don't get hungry."

"Come down and see me again, but if you come for dinner don't forget the food," he grinned.

"I had had inquiries from Henry Ford. But Ford just wrote a nice letter congratulating me on having such rare antiques. So I still have them."

Once there were records about them, with a list of prizes won at Paris exhibitions. But these were lost, and all the present owner knows is that they are worth $5000 or more, were exhibited last year in the San Diego Gallery of Fine Arts, and that they were carved by a southern driver.

They represent Christ and four apostles, St. Peter, St. John, St. Paul, and St. Matthew.

Rettenmaier's kitchen, though, is something too. There was a stack of canned food, a roast duck and shelves lined with preserves. He puts up his own.

"I have a system," he confided. "When I have company, I make them bring a box of food. So I keep well stocked and don't get hungry."

TOWNSEND IS DISMISSED

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend was on an Eastern speaking tour today but he was committed to return here in less than a month to answer more questions in a court battle designed to oust him and other officers of the old age pension movement bearing his name.

The Long Beach, Calif., physician stalked from a deposition hearing, entered his limousine and headed for Erie, Pa., yesterday.

The Townsend head got as far as East Cleveland when he was overtaken and returned to a court room.

The contempt citation was dismissed as the $200-a-month-pension plan father settled back and answered another hour's worth of questions about the organization. Then the hearing was recessed until Aug. 17 to permit the doctor to make his Eastern tour.

GIRLS ESCAPE FROM SLEUTH

John Ortiz, department store executive who makes a hobby out of trailing shoplifters and usually catches them, was stumped yesterday, because he was a gentleman.

Two girls loitered around his store yesterday, then walked out with what appeared to be a pair of bathing trunks. He gave a hint to his belt, then started walking after them.

Somehow they felt they were being followed, and a block up the street walked quickly into a ladies' rest room at a filling station.

Ortiz, hot on the trail, stayed outside.

When he went into the station to telephone the police, however, the two fugitives slipped out, around, and away.

Two months ago Montgomery was charged by the agricultural commissioner's office with shipping immature fruit, but was acquitted by a jury in Fullerton justice court.

"It's just another in a series," Montgomery remarked this afternoon. "They've been after me for three years with these things, and I've been going on attending to my own business. I don't know what the present charge is, but so long as I can make a living, that's all I care about."

J. I. Kelly Found Guilty of Bigamy

John Leroy Kelly, 30, was convicted of bigamy today at a trial before Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Kelly waived the right of a jury as the trial opened. Juliette Kasso, whom he married in Los Angeles Aug. 21, 1935, two months after receiving an interlocutory decree of divorce, and Gertrude Elizabeth Kelly, his divorced wife, both testified against him.

Kelly, through his attorney, John F. Groene, admitted the divorce was not final when he married Juliette Kasso, but contended an annulment of the second marriage had wiped out the offense.

A probation hearing was set for Aug. 14.

'War' Coming to Santiago Dam

"War" will come to Orange county on Friday, July 31, when a company of 170 men, representing the Civilian Military Training camp at Fort McArthur, will attempt to "defend" Santiago dam against an air raid.

This announcement was made by Capt. H. H. Duval, who was in Orange yesterday making final arrangements for the maneuver. Men will arrive in trucks and will bring an anti-aircraft gun, four machine guns and searchlights as part of their equipment, it was announced.

MORE ABOUT LEWIS

Lewis' United Mine Workers and 11 affiliated unions.

This move would cost the federation one-third of its membership and one-third of its dues.

But both the Lewis group and the craft union faction that dominates the A. F. of L. council were so determined that their respective bodies should prevail that labor leaders generally felt any move toward reconciliation just now would be futile.

Lewis and his associates in the committee for industrial organization believe that all the workers in each large mass production industry should be organized into one union.

The craft faction, whose spokesman is William Green, thinks that industrial unions are satisfactory for most mass production workers, but that many highly skilled employees should belong to various craft unions.

In notifying Green that its members would not show up for the rebellion trial, the Lewis committee challenged the council's right under the A. F. of L. constitution to try and suspend member unions.

"Resolute" That employees are better off with a closed shop," was the topic selected for next week.

Refuting Mrs. Weston's interpretation of St. Paul's statement that "money is the root of all evil," Betts declared that the desire for things money can buy, and not the money itself, is the disturbing factor.

J. I. Kelly Found Guilty of Bigamy

John Leroy Kelly, 30, was convicted of bigamy today at a trial before Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Kelly waived the right of a jury as the trial opened. Juliette Kasso, whom he married in Los Angeles Aug. 21, 1935, two months after receiving an interlocutory decree of divorce, and Gertrude Elizabeth Kelly, his divorced wife, both testified against him.

Kelly, through his attorney, John F. Groene, admitted the divorce was not final when he married Juliette Kasso, but contended an annulment of the second marriage had wiped out the offense.

A probation hearing was set for Aug. 14.

Whitney Trial to Consume Week

Trial of J. Arthur Whitney, Santa Ana mechanic, on three burglary counts will continue for a week, it was indicated in superior court today as Deputy District Attorney H. A. McCabe and searchlights as part of their equipment, it was announced.

Whitney, defended by Attorneys Ridley Smith and L. W. Blodgett, gained an advantage yesterday when Superior Judge James L. Allen barred testimony about asserted statements of the defendant on grounds evidence had not proved that burglary had been committed.

CAPITALISM END SEEN

Capitalism may collapse if the system is not adjusted to provide for payment of wages adequate to permit workers to buy industry's products, Mrs. Golden Weston told an audience of approximately 80 persons last night at meeting of the Forum for Political and Economic Education in the junior college.

Taking the affirmative of the subject, "Employers, by not paying enough wages for employees to buy enough products, are the primary causes of the depression," Mrs. Weston quoted extensively from the Brookings institute's fact-finding report on the depression.

Speaking chiefly in rebuttal of Mrs. Weston's arguments, Lew Betts declared that wages have no effect upon economic depressions, which he attributed to the breaking of exchange systems by such occurrences of the World War.

Refuting Mrs. Weston's interpretation of St. Paul's statement that "money is the root of all evil," Betts declared that the desire for things money can buy, and not the money itself, is the disturbing factor.

G.O.P. HOSTS JAM INTO TOPEKA

100,000 Will Hear Alf; Republican Nominee Gets Hair Cut

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Republican hosts converged on Topeka today, headed by Rep. Bertrand Snell, of New York, chairman of the national convention, who will notify Gov. Alf Landon tomorrow night of his nomination for the presidency.

His speech of acceptance ready, his hair freshly cut and his family at his side, Governor Landon planned to greet Snell and other visitors as they arrive.

John Hamilton, national committee chairman, was to arrive tomorrow and remain over Friday to discuss campaign strategy with the nominee.

While Governor Landon "visited" with his family, just returned from a Colorado vacation, holiday-spirited Topeka draped bunting even on fire hydrants.

The chamber of commerce said the crowd would be the biggest ever here—more than 50,000 people.

Another "biggest" was given portrait of Landon which giant five stories of a ten-story building.

Those arriving today saw a city swathed in red, white and blue bunting, decorated with Landon and Knox pictures and bright with yellow sunflowers.

Hundreds of banners were strung across Kansas avenue. Scores of soft drink and sandwich stands mushroomed about the 16-acre capital square.

Rosettes of the national colors were draped on the classic Grecian columns of the south facade where Landon will outline to listeners over two national networks his stand on public questions.

His 3500-word acceptance speech, confidants of Landon said, will outline his philosophy of government and detail some of the major issues—such as farm relief, unemployment, federal spending, labor and the constitution.

Irate citrus ranchers yesterday broke off negotiations with striking pickers. "The trouble is," said Sheriff Jackson, "this is a Communist-inspired strike!"

Communism is becoming the bugaboo of modern times. I can remember, not so long ago, when all California armed itself against the "yellow peril." Now it is arming itself against the "red peril."

But this citrus strike is minor Communism, to say the least. This country, California, and the whole country have been well vaccinated against the peril.

Look abroad and be thankful for such preventative as social security and WPA, acting as bulwarks against the hunger and discontent that cause the red flag to be unfurled.

In France 120,000 workers are out on strike, with the red flag waving over barricaded and closed factories. In Spain the first real revolt since Russia has claimed 25,000 lives, is described as a "war against Communism." China is in real peril from the Communist tide.

We have Charley McLaughlin.

JUST from a casual glance, it looks as if there might be some hair-tearing and whooping at Huntington Beach over the initiative which would allow slant drilling and which the people will vote upon in November.

Seems as how some folks think it's a fine idea, while others hold noses and say "Phooey"—in a nice way, of course.

The battle, if there is a battle, will center around the question of Huntington Beach receiving a share of the money which would come out of the ground. According to the initiative, a certain share of royalties would go to the state park commission. Beach boosters claim, and rightly, perhaps, that they should receive a portion of that money for a nice, big state park. Good idea, what?

The Coast association heard all about it last night. And although nobody became very excited, it's a long time until November!

Candidates almost set a record for not making political speeches at last night's meeting. Tommy Kuchel, Anaheim, who's after an assembly job, just said "Howdy." So did Joe Smith, Santa Ana, who would like to be senator. Jimmy Utt, who knows what it's like to be an assemblyman and who wants to try it again, just explained a few things to us. Dr. C. G. Houston, Costa Mesa's senatorial candidate, talked about the associated chambers of commerce and fishing. For did not mention politics. Frank Morris, Huntington Beach's assembly candidate, talked about the oil drilling situation. Which made things very lovely for newspaper folk.

Also there: Editor and Mrs. Verner Beck, from Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Prenter, Dana Pointers; Santa Fe Lindsey and Southern Pacific Sharpley; Paul Palmer, Lido Islander; Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer; Carl Hanky, Capistrano; J. P. Greeley, vacillating from Balboa; Tom Talbert, who made a speech; J. Sherman Denny, prominent cactus grower; Ted Kuchel, another publisher; Harry Welch and his pipe; Dan Mulholland and his cigar; Prominent Publisher Jim Farquhar, from Huntington Beach; Judge Patten, also from H. B.; Les Kimmell, Laguna lawyer; Attorney Ray Overacker; Sol White; and dozens more.

S. H. Strathman, Placentia C. of C. secretary, about whom I catch the dickens once in a while when I call him "Stew" instead of "Stu," was honored the other day by his organization. Stewart—heh heh, fooled you that time—was married not so long ago. So the chamber members put their collective heads together and decided to do something about it. They ended up by purchasing a chair for the Strathman family.

Which was very nice. However, if they'd only asked me, I could have given 'em a better idea. Why didn't they give him the chamber's famous pink piano? Now there'd have been a real present!

From Huntington Beach comes the sad tale of Jack Killian, who's caretaker for the popular city camp ground there.

Jack, it seems, has a hard time keeping himself in shoes, on account of the telephone.

Which may sound foolish, until we read onward about his plea to the city council the other night. He asked that they put a pay telephone in the camp ground. Because one party had more than 20 calls in one day, and the caretaker wore out two pairs of shoes, or almost, calling the popular party to the phone.

Incidentally, that camp ground is going to town. Thus far during July 1936 has been returned to the city from its operation under Killian's direction. Good business, huh?

Someone says that Arthur Johnson's annual pet show for youngsters in Fullerton has been postponed. Which is too bad. Although it was a good idea to hold up the affair until cooler weather arrives. Last year every youngster within miles arrived for the show, with everything from snakes to ponies. At that time the weather was only slightly warm, but lots of pets suffered. And there were more than the expected number of dog fights. So perhaps it's better to wait.

But watch for the next date for the affair. It'll be worth attending, if it's anything like last year's.

Speaking of animals, someone tells a story about a coyote being shot on Bay Island, at Newport-Balboa.

A sea serpent, or seal wouldn't be much out of place on the island, but when a coyote shows up, apparently lost, that's news.

What makes the story more amusing is the fact that the only method of arriving on the island is by a bridge. Or by swimming. Anyway, the caretaker of the island unlimbered his gun and potted the beast.

Which should be a warning to other coyotes that they're not wanted in Bay Isle society!

SLANT DRILLING MEASURE ATTACKED AT COAST MEETING

STATE FUNDS USE SOUGHT AT H. B.

Money Should Be Spent Where Oil Produced, Speakers Claim

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Some residents of Huntington Beach feel that before support is given an initiative measure permitting slant drilling to tap ocean oil pools, some sort of agreement should be reached for expenditure of at least a portion of funds derived from such drilling in the area from which oil is obtained.

That was the sentiment expressed at a meeting of the Orange County Coast association here last night, in which S. R. Bowen attacked the measure, pointing out weaknesses and declaring that many initiatives are placed on the ballot under the guise of public service which are really serving ulterior purposes.

Bowen, who is a member of a chamber of commerce committee investigating the initiative, which would allow slant drilling and return a percentage of profits to the state park commission and state general funds, said that he would refuse to recommend its approval until certain points have been cleared up and explained. "I hesitate to believe that the park commission knows anything about our beaches here," he said, in pointing out that, from large allocations for parks, Orange county has received only one project, near San Clemente.

Assemblyman James B. Utt, although not taking a definite stand on the matter, said that if members of the association were satisfied that the royalty to be received, slightly more than 14 percent, was all that could be obtained, they could approve the initiative. However, if the county should vote against the measure, which might be approved by the state as a whole, the situation here might be embarrassing, he added.

Feeling Told Several members spoke on the initiative, some with the feeling that the measure was as good a bargain as could be expected, but all expressed the feeling that a large portion of the funds obtained here should remain for development of local beaches. Many members tied in a report on a proposed membership in the California Beaches association, which was held over until the next meeting, with the slant drilling proposition. The beaches group was introduced for the first time in the state at Huntington Beach last year, they claimed, and at that time, it was reported, Dr. Floyd I. Beckwith, a director, said that a slant drilling initiative would appear on the ballot soon.

Oppose Single Tax Included in business at the meeting was adoption of a resolution condemning a proposed state single tax amendment, presented by T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach. George Raymer, Santa Ana, also spoke against the measure.

Leslie F. Kimmell, Laguna Beach, reported on present standing of the county fishing preserve law, which was declared unconstitutional by the district court of appeals recently. Preliminary steps have already been taken to have new legislation drawn, he announced, and the measure will be ready for consideration when the state legislature meets Jan. 1. "Candidates night" was observed at the meeting, with Dr. C. G. Houston, Costa Mesa, candidate for the state senate; Joe Smith, Santa Ana, also a senatorial candidate; James B. Utt, candidate for state assembly from the seventy-fourth district; Frank Morris, Huntington Beach, seventy-fifth district assembly candidate, and Tommy Kuchel, Anaheim, also a candidate from the seventy-fifth district, attending.

Announcements Made Included in announcements were those by H. H. Henshaw, who told of the Festival of Arts, opening July 29 at Laguna Beach and one by Harry Welch concerning the Tournament of Lights, scheduled for Aug. 15 in Newport harbor. C. P. Patten created merriment when he announced a greater Fourth of July celebration for Huntington Beach, for which preparations were already being made.

Dan Mulholland, head of a committee to seek additional life guards for unincorporated county areas, reported that county supervisors had refused more life guards.

The next Coast association session will be a joint meeting with the Associated Chambers of Commerce Aug. 18 at Laguna Beach, it was decided, after Dr. Houston, president of the county group, had proposed such a gathering, with both organizations to discuss the Metropolitan water district. Elmer Hughes presided at the meeting.

Rehearsal Is Called For 'Pageant of Masters'

Fire Chief Wants Radio; But Supervisors Frown

COSTA MESA.—Fire Chief Harry S. Baker of Costa Mesa had a swell idea yesterday for keeping in touch with his station—until the board of supervisors frowned on it.

His plan was to install a short-wave radio set in his car, like those of the deputy sheriffs, and have the calls relayed through the sheriff's office radio station. Supervisor Willard Smith reported that state officials have objected to "spreading" the services of the radio beyond police affairs, so he was asked to refer Baker's request to state agencies.

WPA LIFEGUARD USE LAUDED

LAGUNA BEACH.—Filling a long-felt want is the employment and distribution of life guards along the Orange coast area in unincorporated territory, under an arrangement with the WPA and the county supervisors, it was learned today. In previous years beach sections in unincorporated territory have been dependent upon services of near-by city life guards for protection, inquiries disclosed.

Among those employed for life guard duty are Dick Malone, veteran guard and former captain of the Laguna squad; Fritz Bosworth, Ed Ewing and Le Roy Blacketer. The county life guards will work in cooperation with the city guards and will use equipment of the latter when needed, it was stated.

VISIT RELATIVES MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor have as houseguests this week Mrs. Pryor's sister, Mrs. O. H. Lindner, her son, Albert, and granddaughter, Betty, of Red Bluff.

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hynton from Scotland Yard, and Sergeant White of Hope Enderton, just have completed an inspection of Squire Burdett's deserted and forbidding old mansion. Burdett has been murdered, and most of the village is secretly rather pleased that the old miser has been done in. Yet his examination, apparently has an air-light about it, although he is dreadfully tricky and individual. Lumsdale is Burdett's only servant.

Chapter 11
NEW THEORY

There was, of course, a good deal of regret over the murder expressed superficially, and whenever men or women met, the worn-out phrases automatically rose to their lips: "shocking," "awful," "dreadful," "a tragedy," "up at the Court," and so on; but no one was really sorry.

Arthur Burdett had no friends in Hope Enderton, nor indeed anywhere else; and he had quite a number of potential enemies, for a good score of the cottages in the village belonged to him, and he was the absolute pattern and exemplar of all that a landlord, even in his own interests, should not be.

There was a school of thought, regarded almost as disloyal by the vast majority of the villagers, that the crime was committed by someone outside Enderton altogether, a stranger who had nothing to do with the place.

This possibility was urged by Sergeant White when he called around, by order, to see the Inspector at the Hoops the morning after their first visit to Enderton court.

Kingsley Hynton had just polished up two eggs and an outside rash of Wiltshire bacon and was sipping his extremely hot, though far from excellent, coffee. He lit one of his long thin cigars and pushed his case towards the Sergeant.

White smiled. "No thank, sir. That one yesterday nearly did for me."

"You find them a bit strong?" Well, I suppose they are. They help you to think, you know, especially if you've got a slow brain like mine. What makes you imagine that it's somebody outside the village?"

"I only say it may be sir." "It's a possibility, but somehow..."

"And the last few days I've seen a couple of rough characters on the roads that didn't belong here." "Tramps?"

"That class sir." "Um. Your theory is then: a tramp comes up the doors to beg, forces his way in, kills the old man, grabs a handful out of the safe and disappears."

"All things are possible." "And, of course, as like as not anyone begging on the roads would have heard some talk about Mr. Burdett being a miser and having something worth while up there."

"Um. Let's go and see what sort of a night friend Lumsdale had. However sweet the quality of friend Lumsdale's slumber it had not served to soften in any way the pawkiness of his humor and the hardly short of truculence of his bearing. He uttered a short,

LAGUNA BEACH.—A general dress rehearsal for the "Pageant of the Masters," to be staged as part of the Art Festival on El Paseo, was called today by Roy M. Ropp, director of the pageant, made up of living reproductions of famous paintings.

This general dress rehearsal, it was added, will be preceded Monday evening by a pre-view of "The Last Supper," for which elaborate preparations have been made. Altogether 14 pictures and four pieces of sculpture will be shown.

Among those taking part in the pageant are Annette Arnold, Douglas Thompson, Virginia Thompson, John Martin, John F. Dupre, Lee Hayes, Ward Copley, Christopher J. Valente, Dr. Earl Ostrom, George Dunham, Jacques Welch, Ray Robertson, William Telford, W. Thompson, Carl Stickey, Barbara Park, Jane Maddux, Mae Pillsbury, Helen Colburn, Ivan Colburn, Betty Schwanovsky, George Burch, David Paul, McChesney Bethea, Gloria McCulloch, William Webb, Bertha N. McNaughton, Dorothy Warren, Betty Peters, Helen Parry, Jane Peters, Ross Holly, Margo Sangster, Margaret Moss, Carolyn Schwankovsky, Ward Copley, Jr., and Frederick Schwankovsky. Listed as substitutes are Karl Yens, George Krone, Eugene Oatman, and William Walker.

Assisting in make-up are Evelyn Lissak and Julia Bingham. Selected for pages are Carolyn Mary McCullough and Mary Jane Sherman.

Orange Class Has Garden Party

ORANGE.—The Westminster class of the Presbyterian church held a garden party at the home of Miss Bertha Young, South Glassell street, yesterday afternoon. Guests brought their own sewing and also sewed on welfare work sponsored by the class.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served to 30 members present by a committee composed of the classes, Mrs. J. L. Smith, Mrs. Alma Coffey and Mrs. Jesse Campbell.

derisive laugh when he heard the Sergeant's theory. "And 'ow would this tramp of yours get in, Sergeant?" he asked. "Mr. Burdett would think it was you knocking at the door and go and open it."

"And when he saw it was someone he didn't know, he'd ask him to supper I suppose."

"A tramp might have forced his way in."

"Against the chain?" Lumsdale shook his head. "No, Sergeant. That's just exactly what the old skin-flint had the door put on the chain for each time."

Hynton was inclined to agree with this. Sergeant White, however, was not entirely convinced and he begged to leave to prosecute a few inquiries on his own account.

"My dear fellow," Hynton urged him in a humorous outburst, "prosecute all the inquiries you like. Don't think I mind over-zealous subordinates. I love 'em."

Who didn't unbuttoned and disappeared about his business, and the Inspector devoted himself to an even more thorough examination of the room of the tragedy. It seemed clear that entrance had been gained by the door, for all the windows were securely fastened and bolted on the inside and had been so, according to both Lumsdale and the Sergeant, on the night of the murder.

The noise of a car on the drive outside told the Inspector that the man he was waiting for had arrived; and presently the Chief Constable of the county was shown into the room by Lumsdale.

Major Thorpe was a man cast in the traditional mould of the regular army officer. Well-set up, spruce and evidently as fit at 60 as most men at 45. He was a little hot-tempered but perfectly just, and although a strict disciplinarian was popular with his men. Hynton talked with him for ten minutes or so without adding appreciably to his meager knowledge, except to learn from the county criminal investigation department what he already feared, that the fatal club bore no decipherable finger prints.

"Pretty cold scent, eh?" Major Thorpe asked. "The Inspector laughed. 'It very often is, you know,' he said easily. 'People have an idea that murders invariably leave handkerchiefs behind with obliging tell-tale laundry marks, but as a matter of fact they don't. The distressing truth is that most detective work consists of laborious questioning, usually of the wrong people.'"

"Well thank God you've got the job and not me," the Major said piously. "I've lost a day's shooting over the thing already. Good luck to you."

"Thanks. I suppose you can let me have two men up here all the time to keep undesirable away?" "You can have all the men you want Mr. Hynton, just let me know and I'll fix it. Do you want a car?"

"No, not a car. I'll just ferret about in my own way."

Hynton smiled, enigmatically this time he hoped. He had no

SEE CHANGES IN LAGUNA BUILDING

LAGUNA BEACH.—Construction of guest houses with garage facilities, additions and extensions to residences, as well as alterations of numerous houses with a view to meet year-round residence requirements, has been a prominent feature in this year's building activity. City Building Inspector Floyd W. Case said today.

Judging from applications for permits to build guest houses, Laguna residents are going in for a good deal of entertaining this year. Likewise, it was learned that not a few owners of so-called beach or summer homes are reconstructing the same for all-year round occupancy, either for themselves or for rental purposes.

Permits issued this week include two guest houses, one for Mrs. Dunn, 1191 Caviota drive, $1000; the other for Mrs. R. A. Frost, 869 Cliff drive, $700.

Other permits issued were as follows: R. J. Dickinson, 520 Sunset, residence, $3000; Mrs. C. O. Cushman and Mrs. Lolita Hodgson, 355 Euterpe, dwelling, $3000, and C. E. Tracey, 260 Pearl street, dwelling, $1000.

M. C. BALL CLUB LOSES GAME

MIDWAY CITY.—The newly organized Midway City ball team, with Charles Benedict pitcher and Ed Freeman catcher, played their first game Monday night when they met the Westminster "B" team at the Westminster ball park, with the game ending in favor of Westminster.

Members of the team beside Benedict and Freeman are Earl Waffle, "Arky" Hazelton, Harvey Arnett, Red Tretin, Norman Touissant, Dale Heil, David Robertson and Frank Ehrenfried.

more idea than the man in the moon where the expected solution was coming from, but he kept that under his hat.

Five minutes after the major's departure, Hynton was walking briskly toward the Hoops. He was not yet unduly worried by the almost complete absence of clues. There was no truer saying in the world, he was convinced, than "murder will out." Your murderer has to go home some time.

IRWIN SLATED TO HEAD G. O. P. CAMPAIGN IN ORANGE COUNTY

ACTIVITY TO BE STARTED FRIDAY

Present Committee Will Carry on Drive After Primary Vote

Howard Irwin of Fullerton today appeared headed for the job of piloting the Republican presidential campaign in Orange county. Irwin is chairman of the county central committee. There will be no contests for positions on the committee at the August primary, so the present group will hold over. So far there has been no intimation of a contest for the position of chairman—and the chairman is slated to head the campaign.

The Republican firework in Orange county will begin to sizzle Friday, immediately after Gov. Alf. Landon of Kansas is notified of his nomination for the presidency.

To Hear Ceremony Tomorrow Orange county Republicans will gather in numerous homes and halls to listen to the radio reports of the notification ceremonies. The event will take place at 6 p. m., Orange county time, and will last about an hour. NBC and CBS will broadcast the affair.

With the present central committee continuing to function, probably under Irwin, the first big move in the campaign will be organization of Landon and Knox clubs throughout the county. It is hoped many volunteers will come forward and provide ample leadership, Irwin said.

One of the first big public events will be the barbecue at Irvine park Aug. 22. A crowd of not less than 1000 persons is anticipated.

Enthusiasm Shown Irwin said the committee also plans to conduct an active campaign on behalf of Republican nominees for state positions. The committee will give full cooperation to the Republican assembly and Junior Republicans, said Irwin.

As secretary-treasurer of the Republican committee of Southern California, Irwin said, he is receiving many letters from throughout the Southland evincing keen interest and enthusiasm. For the first time in his memory, he reported, men are coming to his office and offering to contribute to campaign funds.

The big effort in Southern California will be to help the Los Angeles Republicans carry their county. It is expected that the rural counties will have less difficulty and that they will assist the metropolitan area.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED Paul Bowen, Huntington Beach, yesterday received notice confirming his appointment as a director of Young Republicans of California. The appointment was made a week ago at San Francisco at a directors' meeting. Bowen will be in charge of organization work in Orange county, it was indicated.

Delay Decision On Bridge Book

If enough Orange county merchants want to sponsor a page in a souvenir book to be published by the California State Employees association in connection with the Golden Gate bridge dedication, the board of supervisors will give official approval, but not until then.

CUPID'S AIDE TO RESIGN JAN. 1

Famous Marrying Justice Of Yuma Unites Many Screen Notables

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Earl A. Freeman, the noted "marrying justice" who in the last decade has been Cupid's right hand man at thousands of weddings in this Southwestern Gretna Green, turned his eyes today to retirement and the comparative quietude of ranch life.

From a hospital in Loma Linda, Calif., where he has been confined for three weeks, Freeman announced through political associates he would not seek re-election because of ill health.

After Jan. 1, Justice Freeman no longer will be on hand, day and night, to unite screen notables of Hollywood who cross the California line by plane, train and automobile to wed in Yuma.

In 10 years as justice of the peace, Freeman has performed more than 6000 wedding ceremonies.

Among the moving picture personages at whose weddings he has officiated are Gloria Swanson, Jean Harlow, Claudette Colbert, Dorothy Mackall, Jetta Goudal, Buster Crabbe, Richard Dix, Tom Mix, Grant Withers, Minna Gombell, Barbara Kent, Billie Dove, Loretta Young, Mary Astor, Sharon Lynn, Sally Eilers and Marjorie Rambeau.

Jean Harlow and Harold G. Ross, motion picture cameraman, got him out of bed at 4 a. m., Freeman recalls, but he didn't mind it.

He cut short a Sunday afternoon picnic in the country with his family to marry Sally Eilers and Harry Joe Brown, director.

But of all the weddings which he performed, Justice Freeman says, that of Claudette Colbert and Dr. Joel E. Pressman gave him the most pleasure. When the couple's forthcoming marriage was announced, Freeman said:

"I will be greatly disappointed if Miss Colbert doesn't come to me. I attend all of her pictures. She's a marvelous actress."

His only complaint has been that so many marriages interfere with his greatest pleasure—fishing.

Chips Off the Old Blocs

Third Party Movements in American History

Populist leaders are shown here, in a sketch from Review of Reviews of 1896, at their national convention that year in St. Louis, where they endorsed the Democratic nominee, William Jennings Bryan. Among them none was more colorful than "Sockless Jerry" Simpson (inset), of Kansas, who served three terms in congress.

Farmers Raise Champion in Sockless Jerry Simpson

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE (Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON (AP)—From pre-civil war days when it was called "bleeding Kansas" to the current Air Landon era, the Sunflower state has produced more than its quota of picturesque political figures.

But it took a third party uprising in the politically turbulent Kansas of the nineties to give the nation one of the most colorful congressmen of all time—Jeremiah "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, sage of Medicine Lodge and campaigner extraordinary.

The agrarian midwest was experiencing one of those periodic electoral revolts against "railroad-banker domination" and "the interests" when Sockless Jerry, sailor and farmer, was carried to congress on a wave of Populism which swept western Kansas.

Simpson had been a sailor on the Great Lakes for 20 years before taking up farming and politics at Medicine Lodge, Kans. An incorrigible non-conformist, Jerry relished arguments with the preachers and became known as the town atheist.

His opponent in his first congressional race was a fashionably dressed, urbane orator named James Halloway. Delivering a campaign speech to a group of Kansas farmers and their wives, Jerry said:

"Ladies and gentlemen: My opponent, Prince Hal, wears fine, soft silk hosiery. I have no money to buy silk hosiery. The fact is that I have no socks at all save the natural buff that my mother gave me."

Sockless Jerry Then to prove it, Candidate Simpson elevated his pants legs and displayed bare shanks. From then on, he was "Sockless Jerry." Although he did not regularly eschew hosiery, he recognized the political value of a sockless reputation among poverty-pinched voters.

On first coming to Washington, he carried cards reading "Jerry Simpson, Medicine Lodge, congressman-elect, the Big Seventh district). N. B. No Socks." On Capitol Hill, however, Simpson wore socks.

About 5 feet 9 inches tall, with coal black hair straight as an Indian's, drooping mustaches and gold-boned glasses, Congressman Simpson was a sartorial headliner in a "store" suit of broad yellow stripes on a background of chestnut sorrel.

The press reported later that he became "acclimated" to Washington and that "there was consternation in the short grass country when the news was flashed to southwest Kansas that their statesman was wearing a bright red necktie, had fallen victim to the bicycle craze and was one of the prominent wheelmen on Pennsylvania avenue.

Some "city slickers" in congress thought at first that Farmer Simpson would be fair game for their dialectic talents. But after two or three disastrous encounters with Jerry's stinging repartee and whimsical ridicule, they let him alone.

His purported uncouthness masked a tip-of-the-tongue familiarity with the classics, as well as political history and economics, and an inherent graciousness. He was a powerful campaigner, building up his arguments in logical sequence, speaking very dispassionately for a "rabble-rouser" and putting his adversary in a ridiculously untenable position.

Ridicule Becomes Respect There is a story that a sedate Washington lady said to him: "Mr. Simpson, would you mind showing me whether you really wear hosiery or not?" "Not in the least, Madam," Jerry graciously replied, adding quickly, "And you will reciprocate, of course?"

He readily crossed oratorical swords with the powerful Tom Reed, czar of the house before Joe Cannon took over the speakership. Although lampooned in story and verse when he first became a national figure, he turned ridicule, in time, to respect and admiration. Jerry served three terms in congress covering the periods 1891 to 1895 and 1897 to 1899. Shortly before his death in 1905 he remarked in lamenting the disintegration of the Populist party: "Think of me as a land agent for a corporation and then burst out crying."

TO CONFER ON ATTRACTING TOURISTS

Editor of State Chamber Journal to Meet With Local Leaders

J. E. Carpenter, editor of the California Journal of Progress, publication of the California state chamber of commerce, will meet with representatives of Santa Ana and other Orange county cities tomorrow to advise them on the current campaign to stop and attract tourists.

Carpenter wired the local chamber that he will be in Los Angeles tomorrow and planned to contact local groups. He is expected to aid in drawing up trip maps and other literature.

Launched by the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, the drive has been endorsed by the Huntington Beach chamber and by individuals in several other communities. Its plan is to erect signs calling attention to the county's scenic attractions and provide information bureaus where suggestions for trips and other data may be issued. Use of hospitality stickers, such as were used here last year, designating motorists as "guests of the city," is planned.

In connection with the drive, the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce has invited representatives of the publicity and promotion committee of the local chamber, its president, Rex Kennedy, and Secretary Howard I. Wood to attend a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Luncheon Is A Charming Courtesy

President of Native Daughters Honors Officers

As a farewell to her officers and an expression of appreciation for their work just ending, Mrs. J. H. Bray, retiring president of the local chapter of the Native Daughters of the Golden West entertained the group at a prettily appointed summer luncheon and bridge afternoon yesterday at the home of Mrs. F. C. Pope, 903 1/2 range avenue.

A yellow and green color motif was chosen for the small tables at which the guests were seated. Scotch broom and maiden hair fern forming the centerpiece and matching the little nut cups at the places.

At each place was a little gift wrapped in yellow and green paper, presented by the hostess to her co-officers.

The menu, also, carried out the color scheme, and flowers in the other rooms were in pleasing harmony.

Mrs. Bray wore a lovely yellow chiffon gown with a green flower at her waist.

After luncheon, bridge and "Monopoly" were played, with Miss Gladys Edwards winning high prize in the former, and Mrs. Paul Etzold winning the monopoly. Prizes were wrapped in yellow paper tied with gold ribbons.

Guests invited in addition to the officers were Mrs. Henry Panky, sr., and Mrs. F. C. Pope, the co-hostess, both aunts of Mrs. Bray, and Mrs. Noel Sanborn of Denver, Colo., who is visiting at the Bray home.

CRISP RUFFLES ADD TO CHARM OF MARIAN MARTIN MORNING FROCK

PATTERN 9935

You'll be a refreshing sight when you slip into this crisp "at home" frock and wear it proudly from sunup to the drying of the last supper dish at night. Feminine ruffles trim the brief sleeves and round pockets while casual buttons bring out the shoulder lines and smart yoke. The novel belt is fetching, too. Choose a pretty fabric—dimity, perhaps—or printed gingham, colorful muslin, gayly sprigged percale or poplin, with contrasting ruffling in dainty organdy. You'll find it easy to turn amateur dressmaker, for a few hours as the complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart simplifies every cutting and stitching detail.

Pattern 9935 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards ruffling.

DICK PARKERS HOSTS AT BUFFET SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Parker entertained at an informal buffet supper and a delightful evening of bridge Monday night at their home at 2344 North Broadway, with a group of Orange county and out-of-town visitors as their guests.

Included in the guest list were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gordon of San Francisco, who have been visiting about your personality as well as your face—sometimes more.

You cannot make your own hands create an impression simply because you want them to, but you can give them a chance to express your personality. Emphasize whatever charm they now possess. If they are graceful, take exercises to keep them flexible and poised. If their shape is unusually attractive, be sure that the shaping of your fingernails is flattering and that you keep the skin smooth, soft and fair.

Whether your hands are sturdy and strong and well-browned or dainty and poised, they must be thoroughly clean, neatly manicured and well cared for.

Five minutes spent each night, cleansing the hands and nails, pushing back the cuticles and massaging cream or lotion into your fingertips and a weekly manicure and hand massage that take about a half hour are sufficient to keep your hands lovely enough to display over the tea table or at bridge.

Use a good toilet soap for cleansing, to begin with. Always wash your hands in tepid water to avoid drying and irritation.

A good hand cream and a hand lotion are as necessary to your hands as good creams and tonics are to your face.

ALL INVITED TO GARDEN PARTY TOMORROW

With extra room provided in an immediately adjoining garden, members of St. Joseph's Altar society are accepting last-minute reservations for their garden benefit dessert bridge party tomorrow afternoon at the U. J. Engelmann home, 2459 Heliotrope.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. E. J. Vosskuhl, phone 2184, or Mrs. Phillip Telet, 5671-J.

The garden provides a cool, shady setting for the party, which promises to be one of the largest and most enjoyable affairs of the summer season.

ANNIVERSARIES MARKED SUNDAY

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Barnes, who celebrated their thirty-second wedding anniversary on July 20, and Mrs. Ralph Barnes, their daughter-in-law, whose birth anniversary was the previous day, two cakes centered the table Sunday when the family gathered to celebrate the double occasion at the Robert Barnes home south of Irvine.

Others present to help share in the bountiful dinner and celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Braly of Los Animas, Colo., sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Robert Barnes; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Barnes; and two sons, Arlo and Merle; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnes; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritchie and daughter, Joan; Miss Lily Barnes of Bell, and Glenn Mavity, Philip, Bobby, and Ronald Barnes of the home.

In the evening, the group participated in a beach party, followed by a wieners and marshmallow bake at Balboa bay.

ENTERTAINS AT NEWPORT TODAY

Mrs. A. N. Cox entertained at a luncheon today at her Newport cottage, her guests including Mrs. F. L. Andrews and Mrs. E. T. Baty of Santa Ana; Mrs. W. B. Risk of Tustin, and Mrs. Risk's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. W. Kerrison of Petaluma, who has been the guest of Mrs. Risk for several weeks.

Ends Series Of Dinner Parties

Last night in her home at 202 1/2 South Sycamore, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon gave the last of a series of lovely dinners which have extended over the past week.

The initial dinner was honoring Mrs. James Irvine before she left on her pleasure trip to the Orient, and at that time, because of her kindnesses to him while a classmate of her son, Will White, in a northern school, Johnston Haddon, son of the hostess, took the occasion to present Mrs. Irvine with a lovely bird bath and pedestal for her new beach home.

This last dinner was particularly given because Johnston Haddon, who has been having a happy vacation with his mother, leaves today for the Orient in the line of duty on the S. S. Golden Hind.

Beautiful flowers to deck the table and rooms were sent to Mrs. Haddon by the Landises.

Guests enjoying the dinner and the game of cards which followed were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Lühr of Orange, Attorney and Mrs. Z. B. West, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Magg, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen and Johnston Haddon and Mrs. Haddon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Magg won the two prizes presented by the hostess at the close of the playing.

MARGARET REES TO DANCE IN LAGUNA CONCERT

Of interest among concert events at the summer season in Orange county is the forthcoming appearance of Myra Kinch and her dance group, scheduled for this Saturday night at 8:45 o'clock in the Laguna Beach auditorium.

They will be assisted by Clay Dalton and Manuel Galea in a varied program of feature numbers, which will reach a climax in a new dance suite, "Theme of Expansion," based on early American life.

One of the leading dancers in the Myra Kinch group is Margaret Rees, dance instructor of the Visel studio in Santa Ana, who, because of her exceptional technique and dramatic ability, has been chosen for special parts in the Laguna Beach concert.

She portrays the part of Sanan in the Marco Polo suite, and is one of the leading dancers in the comedy satire, "Rustle Parody."

Rees is an important role in the "Theme of Expansion" suite. Miss Rees is to make another interesting appearance within the next week, taking a prominent part in the ballet which is to be presented at the Hollywood Bowl July 30 by Martha Dean and Robert Taylor of the University of California at Los Angeles.

VARIED EVENTS SLATED FOR CALUMPITS

It was a full calendar when members of Calumpit auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans got through marking down future activities announced at their meeting last night in K. of C. hall.

The first set aside was July 28—a pot-luck supper for the camp and auxiliary, in Jack Fisher park; July 30—a wieners roast at Laguna Beach, with veterans as guests; August 4—celebration of the auxiliary's anniversary, with past presidents filling offices.

August 15—Spanish War veterans day at the San Diego exposition; August 21—exemplification of drill work by the Calumpit auxiliary team, at meeting of the Pomona organization.

Gertrude Rowe, first delegate to the recent U. S. W. V. convention in San Bernardino, reported during the business session conducted by President Hazel Hall. The membership application of Grace E. Shiner, Garden Grove, was received.

Matilda Moesser received the evening's prize. Mrs. F. Kinler, Stanton, visited the unit. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sherman Glaze.

SIXTH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Marjorie Lou Braasch's sixth birthday was the occasion for an informal little gathering at the Braasch home, 1111 West Washington, yesterday afternoon, when her friends gathered to help her celebrate the day.

A birthday cake with six candles and many lovely birthday gifts made it a happy day for Marjorie Lou, whose guests included Peggy and Bobby Smith.

Their mother, Mrs. R. Carson Smith, Mrs. Lynn Ostrander, Mrs. Jack Kahler, Mrs. B. E. McCulla, and Miss Helen Furgason also joined in the party, which concluded with a delicious refreshment course.

Toy windmill favors and all-day suckers were given to the children as an enjoyable feature of the afternoon.

Mrs. Braasch and Marjorie Lou planned to go back to their cabin at Lake Arrowhead tonight for the rest of the summer. They have spent the past month there, coming down last Sunday for a few days, and Mr. Braasch drives up each week-end.

LUNCHEON GUEST

Mrs. Cyrus H. Lurker, West First street, was among guests at a luncheon given Saturday at the Lakewood country club, in honor of Mrs. Bertie E. Todd and Mrs. Gertrude Steewood, high officers of the Eastern Star.

Scholarship For Santa Ananne

One of the two Hopkins scholarships awarded each year by Stanford university goes this year to Miss Mary Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wallace of 1621 Spurgeon street, Santa Ana.

Miss Wallace, who is a native daughter of Santa Ana, had an almost perfect record in scholarship when she was graduated in June from Santa Ana Junior college, tying for first place with Miss Louise Sexton. Miss Sexton has received a scholarship to the University of Southern California.

Social science is the field in which Miss Wallace has chosen to pursue her studies this fall on the Stanford campus, continuing interests which had their roots in the local schools. Born in Santa Ana, she has attended school here all through the grades, high school and college.

COUPLE UNITED IN PRETTY HOME CEREMONY

In a ceremony of beauty and simplicity, solemnized at 7 o'clock at home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Stearns, at 801 North Olive street, Miss Harriet Beth Stearns was united in marriage with Edwin A. Gooden of Laguna Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Gooden of Hendricks, Minn.

The bride wore a charming two-piece knit dress of a powder blue shade, with all white accessories, and was attended by Mrs. Edwin Owings of the First Baptist church, Wesley Morgan, Santa Ana musician, played a lovely piano interpretation of the wedding song, "Because," and accompanied the piano by Mrs. Edwin Edick of Costa Mesa.

Dr. Rachel Gatzlaff read an original poem, entitled "To Simon and Martha on Their Golden Wedding," which started with the verse:

"You have traveled life's pathway together,
"For a matter of 50 years,
"You have breathed all kinds of weather
"And confronted all kinds of fears."

The poem carried their life through the 50 years of their marriage.

At 2 o'clock dinner was served under a spreading tree at the rear of the home, a delightfully cool spot. The guests spent the afternoon in listening to the splendid old-time music played on the violin by Mr. LaForge, "Uncle Dock" from Palms, renewing old acquaintances, and talking over old times. Later sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served.

Simon Simmons and Martha Morgan were married in Luverne, Minn. Mr. Simmons spent his life as a farmer, in which he was very successful, farming in different parts of Minnesota.

Some time before the war he retired and came to spend his life at ease in California climate. Most of his family grew up here.

Mrs. Lindow's husband is located in West Virginia and Mrs. Lindow and children are spending their summer vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Farrell are located in San Diego, Mr. Farrell being a retired navy officer. Alfred Simmons has a government position with a CCC camp and William Simmons is located in Chicago. Mrs. Lacy is employed with the Santa Ana Bookstore.

DAUGHTER FROM NORTH VISITS PAUL BAILEYS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey of 311 East Washington have just returned from a two-week vacation in the north, driving up to Portland, Ore., where Mr. Bailey attended a convention.

On their way back they stopped in Berkeley for a visit at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Drayce Gibbons (Edith Bailey), bringing them back with them for a week's stay in Santa Ana.

Miss Ruth Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. (Tex) Crosby of 1023 West First street, Santa Ana, left recently for Texas with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Melton of Electra, Tex., who had been visiting at the Crosby home.

She plans to spend the summer in that state, visiting the centennial in the fall before she returns.

Husband Often Overlooks Spiritual Side of Marriage, Shatters Wife's Illusions

By MARY STODDARD

"Few people even think they are ideally mated." "Most men are so sure of themselves and rush into matrimony like a bull into a china shop." We will agree on these points with the Santa Ana woman who writes to us today. The extremes to which he extends corollaries of these statements are a bit distorted, yet for young couples to heed. Dear Miss Stoddard: You have started something when you printed the letter from "Misunderstood Husband." I would like to write an answer to all of these wonderful providers, but I know you could not print it.

They say that "man kills the things he loves" and I believe it. They are so sure of themselves and rush into matrimony like a bull into a china shop. So by the end of the first year they have usually broken all the beautiful illusions a wife has. However, she is married with a home to maintain and possible children in the home and like a good sport she sticks to her bargain.

Man, "know thyself." Marriage is not alone material, but spiritual. It is a partnership and the comradeship is most essential. Marriage, like everything else in this world is not perfect. There are probably very few people who even think they are ideally mated. "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore, get wisdom, and with all thy getting, get understanding."

J. E. T.

An echo of letters some time ago from young women who wanted to hitch-hike and felt restrained and treated as children because their friends object, is heard in the sensible reply of "Mrs. 25."

Dear Miss Stoddard: I would like to comment briefly on the letters of "Louise" and "Should I?"

I also, once used to be defiant of conventions and willing to ignore them and never could understand the warnings and advice given me. But now I am married and know better.

My husband is one of the finest and cleanest of men but the things he tells me (at my request) of how the men he works with talk and think about women make me realize how little respect a certain type of man has for woman-kind in general.

No matter how frank your parents are with you in telling the facts of life, a girl does not learn of certain phases of the masculine temperament till she is married, and not even then, if she and her husband are not frank with each other.

Most men are respectful of womanhood but some are not, and no one, least of all young unmarried girls, can judge at a casual meeting what type of man a given individual may be. So don't go hitch-hiking and do not accept rides from strange men; when you are married you'll understand why.

The B. J. MacMullen company is moving its used car lot from Fourth and Ross streets to the lot just east of its main new car and service building at First and Sycamore streets.

"A service entrance has been cut in the wall just south of the lot leading to the main service department through which serviced cars as well as used cars may pass; all of which is a great improvement in the handling of cars," said MacMullen.

150 ENTER CONTEST TO PICK SAFEST AUTO DRIVER

AUTO CLUB IS SPONSOR OF PROJECT

Nearly 150 Southern California candidates seeking to be named California's "safest driver" have already submitted applications to the Automobile Club of Southern California, which is handling arrangements here for the nationwide motorcade of safe drivers to New York City.

One delegate from each state will be selected by judges soon to be appointed. They will drive their own cars over designated routes, with all expenses paid, to the Eastern metropolis, where they will participate in a two-day "accident clinic."

Automobile clubs throughout the country are cooperating in arrangements for the "safest driver" scheduled to converge on New York City Aug. 31. Free board and room, entertainment and honors are available to representatives during three days in New York.

Applicants must have a record of 10 years or more of safe driving to be eligible, without ever having been involved in an accident or cited for a traffic law violation.

If California's safest driver is selected from this section, the Automobile Club of Southern California will provide a one-year free membership in the organization. Entry blanks are available at all club offices.

chrome plated elephant, cites the endurance and consistency of his mount, and smiles broadly with the statement that they will all have to watch his smoke before the finish. The other boys, Dolan, Moore, Johnson and Garaway all claim great speed for their mounts and the bookies are receiving fast and furious business on the race. We shall see what we shall see!

"Back at the old stand, and ready to go," was the way Clarence Siemonsma expressed it yesterday, when seen at the local Buick agency. Siemonsma, service superintendent for the Reid Motor company, has been absent from the plant, on account of illness, for the past five weeks. His many friends will be glad to learn that he has recovered, and is now back on the job, ready, as usual, to give them the best in servicing and reconditioning of cars entrusted to him and his corps of assistants. Siemonsma has been connected with local Buick agency for the past 13 years.

Ray Townsend, local representative of the Nash Motor company, is joining the hundreds of other agencies throughout the country in the celebration of twentieth birthday of the Nash Motor company, which occurs next Wednesday.

"In 1916, when the Nash Motor company started, its plant was on a schedule of 5000 or less; since that date the Nash company has built and sold over 1,100,000 automobiles and its aggregate sales have amounted to more than $1,067,000,000," Townsend said.

Torture Platform Proves Stamina of New Dodge

The machine shown here, called the "Belgian Roll," is a laboratory contrivance on which every strain or abuse to which an automobile could possibly be subjected in years of severe service is infinitely multiplied and inflicted on a 1936 Dodge sedan.

NASH PASSES MILESTONE

The Nash Motors company will be 20 years old on July 23, it was announced here today by Ray Townsend, Nash dealer, Fourth and Bush streets. The company incorporated on that date in 1916. It operates at Kenosha, Wis.

Public observation of the anniversary has been planned by Kenosha business and civic organizations and the committee in charge has announced that a number of individuals prominent in the industry and distinguished in its history will be invited to commemorate the occasion.

Importance of the event, in the view of Kenosha, lies to a certain extent in the fact that the Nash organization has been built into one of the most vigorous and permanent industrial establishments in Wisconsin.

The theme of permanency in success is regarded in a large measure as being personified by Charles W. Nash, founder, and chairman of the board, a leading figure among the "independents" of the automobile industry and long recognized as a forward and aggressive spirit in the development of motor cars.

While the dominating figure in the Nash organization has been Nash himself, he has succeeded in transmitting his genius for organization and sound business management to a well rounded, compact group of executives.

The men who now direct operations are largely those who joined with Nash when he established the new company in 1916. All, however, have had the benefits of intensive "Nash training" over a long period of years and today reflect as nearly as is humanly possible the business qualities of the automotive pioneer.

Nash was a leading figure in the automobile industry prior to entering the field as an independent manufacturer. He had resigned the presidency of General Motors to take this step. Before that he had won enviable honors as president of the Buick company. Even earlier he had made an outstanding success while in charge of production for America's leading horse-drawn-vehicle manufacturer, the Durant-Dort Carriage company at Flint, Mich.

It was while in charge of carriage production that he adapted the straight-line conveyor system

Didn't Have Any Trouble Getting This Fine Back

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—L. C. York was arrested for driving past a stop sign at a through street. He pleaded guilty and paid a $4 fine.

Later a friend told him there wasn't any stop sign at the corner where he was arrested. They investigated. The friend was right. So York reopened the case and succeeded in having the fine remitted.

RADIO NEEDED FOR TRIPS

Next to California's climate and scenery, the next most necessary ingredient to a perfect vacation is an automobile radio, according to Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of The Pep Boys of California. Public acceptance and enthusiasm for this mobile form of entertainment has reached a new high this year, with the introduction of lower prices based on increased sales volume, Rosenfeld announced.

"Whether it's just a drive to the beach, a week-end journey, or a cross-continent trip, an automobile radio is definitely a favorite companion for most motorists," Rosenfeld said, recently.

"The Santa Ana Pep Boys' store, located at 211 North Main street, offers a complete selection of automobile radio models, in Remington and other makes.

of assembly and opened the way for mass production.

The Nash company began operations in the Kenosha plant which it acquired from the Thomas B. Jeffery company. Since beginning operations the Nash company has built and sold more than 1,100,000 automobiles and its aggregate sales have amounted to more than $1,067,000,000. During the expansion period from 1919 to 1930 the production facilities were enlarged and increased, though upon a rational basis.

In 1920 the minimum and maximum base prices of the Nash line of cars were, respectively, $1,595 and $2,895. In 1936 the highest base price was $995 and the lowest, $595. In these figures the trend of lowering automobile prices are graphically illustrated.

BUICK SALES DOUBLED

FLINT, Mich.—Domestic retail deliveries of current model Buick motor cars during the first six months of 1936 more than doubled deliveries during the corresponding period in 1935, W. R. Gordon, Santa Ana Buick dealer, announced today.

A total of 81,501 domestic retail deliveries was made during the period from Jan. 1 through June 30, compared with 35,496 in the first six months of last year. Total deliveries, domestic and export, of the current model since its introduction, have reached 136,163, exclusive of Canada.

"During the 10-day period ending June 30," Gordon said, "Buick effected 7698 domestic deliveries, more than during the entire month of June 1935, when 6997 cars were delivered. The 10-day figure is the highest in nine years for the period and nearly three times that for the corresponding period in 1935.

"The total for this past June was 16,454, or nearly three times the deliveries made in the same month a year ago. Production for the month of June reached 16,290 units. Since deliveries have surpassed production, we are required to maintain a proportionately high rate of production during July."

Gordon announced that Buick's total deliveries, domestic and export, exclusive of Canada, in the first six months of the current year totalled 87,158 in comparison with a total of 38,856 in 1935. Export deliveries thus far in the calendar year 1936 have nearly doubled those in the first half of last year. From Jan. 1 through June 30, Buick's export deliveries this year totalled 5,657 against 3,360 in 1935.

Production figures on 1936 model Buicks for the first six months of the current year were considerably more than double those of last year's corresponding period.

JANUARY CAR SHOWS OUT

DETROIT. (AP)—While many things the motor car industry does are initiated on an experimental basis and most things it undertakes are subject to change with conditions, it cannot foresee the January automobile shows of other years appear to be in the discard.

For more than a third of a century motorcar makers held their annual displays at the beginning of the year. Some earlier shows, of course, had to divide space with bicycles, but that was when the automobile still was regarded as a novelty.

The show staged last November convinced virtually every producer in the industry that the fall is the logical time for introduction of new types and, on basis of present opinion among manufacturers, the industry never again will hold a national automobile show in January.

Since 1902 more than 46,000 prisoners have been incarcerated at the federal prison at Atlanta.

BIG GAIN IN CAR TOTALS

Motor vehicles have increased in California more than 18 times over the number of cars in use in 1914, the first registration year. This is shown in files uncovered by the Automobile Club of Southern California touring bureau which listed totals of 123,516 motor vehicles in 1914 as compared with 2,254,828 in 1935.

In 1914, Los Angeles city registered 17,132 cars, there were 43,099 in the county, only nine in Alpine county, 12 in Mono county, and 5665 in San Diego county. Ten years later these totals jumped to 1,319,394 in the state, 252,304 in Los Angeles city, 532,082 in the county, 33 in Alpine county, 247 in Mono county, and 44,155 in San Diego county.

At the end of last year registration totals showed an increase in Los Angeles county to 916,842, Alpine county to 146, Mono county to 736, and San Diego county to 88,572. More trucks were operated in California during 1935 than motor vehicles in 1914. Truck registration was 135,722 last year.

Lessons in U. S. Citizenship

AMERICAN citizens caught short in revolution-torn Spain must have picked up a new slant on what U. S. citizenship means when two battleships were sent rushing to their rescue. Those Spanish bombs and bullets don't look nearly so dangerous from the deck of a sleek cruiser flying the Stars and Stripes.

Since the days of mighty Rome, great nations have protected their citizens wherever they go. The Bible tells how the apostle, Paul, nearly 2,000 years ago, saved himself from unjust punishment by asking the official, "Is it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman citizen?"

The United States does the same thing for its nationals today. And some of those Americans who are ashamed of the "uncouth" civilization at home and who prefer to live amid the "art and aristocracy" of Europe are glad enough to run for a battleship when the shooting starts. The experience usually equips them with a new appreciation of U. S. citizenship.

There are also a lot of Americans who have lived at home all their lives who would be benefited by a few sharp lessons in U. S. citizenship.

They are the people who bellow: "Down with the government. We want something like they got in Europe!"

They are the citizens who murmur: "Deah me, no. Why should I bother to vote? Politics are so nawsty."

They are the men who bark: "What do we care if he goes broke and his employees lose their jobs? We want a monopoly in this field to boost our profits." And so on, ad infinitum.

A good text for instruction in citizenship lies in the federal constitution, which starts: "We, the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity."

Such lessons can't be given at home with battleships. But they can be given lucidly and effectively in the schools, newspapers and churches of the land.

One of the things that nobody seems to worry about is how the postoffice department will get along this summer and fall without Farley.

Agitators Cost Fancy Price

VALENCIA strikers are paying a stiff price for their decision to follow a few professional labor agitators rather than to heed the wise counsel of Sr. de la Huerta, inspector general of consuls for the Mexican government, and some of their trusted and respected local countrymen.

This determination finally has caused collapse of negotiations under way for the past week, with the growers withdrawing because of a deadlock over the issue of union recognition.

The union in question is controlled by those Los Angeles county agitators who are getting fat off the strike. It's recognition is not necessary for a fair and just settlement, according to Ernesto Romero, representative of Sr. de la Huerta.

Meanwhile the growers are ready to care for the real interests of the strikers by adjusting wage differences and providing transportation and picking equipment on an equitable basis.

The walkout is costing the strikers some $2500 per day. That is a lot of money. It is a steep price to pay just to satisfy the vanity, power lust and mischievous propensities of a few agitators.

A convict escaped from an eastern prison wearing golf clothes. If he ever takes up golf there'll be times when he'll wish he was back in the penitentiary.

Dr. Townsend Learns About Courts

DR. TOWNSEND is learning that it's not as easy to flout the courts as it is to snub congress. The venerable founder of the $200-a-month pension idea has been cited for contempt of court in Cleveland for walking out on a $1,000,000 damage suit against him by Dr. A. J. Wright, who was bounced out of the Townsend movement as an insurgent.

Perhaps the Long Beach medico thought he could get away with it like he did during the Bell congressional investigation. The legislative laddies lacked that intestinal something or other to call him back. But not the court in Cleveland.

It's lucky for the little fellows who make up most of this country that our courts aren't afraid of big men, no matter how many followers or how much money they have. Honest and fearless courts keep alive the ideals of American equality and liberty.

Everybody Is a Taxpayer

TAXPAYERS will open their eyes at the revelation of the state chamber of commerce that state government costs the people of California $550,000,000 annually—a sum that would build seven San Francisco-Oakland bay bridges or four Metropolitan Water district aqueducts—and that is $15,000,000 greater than the total production of California farms in 1935.

This condition exists, of course, only because so many people are fooled by the delusion that they are not taxpayers. As a matter of fact, every person, whether he is a millionaire or a man on county relief dole, pays a share of the taxes. When the voters finally wake up to this fact, they'll force a drastic cut in the expenses of government.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Outside of the radio and screen, youth storms most the gates of the big advertised agencies for a career. Not only young men but young women. The agency anterooms are filled daily with saucer-eyed hopefuls who yearn to gallop to glory on an epigram.

They have heard of the extraordinary fame and salaries of the Bruce Bartons, the Obie Winters, the Phil Lennens and Ad Kudners and, of course, want to trek the golden trail. The truth is ad copy writing has indeed become one of the shortest cuts to important money.

A simple five-word slogan may hoist an obscurity to the heights almost overnight. There are a dozen top-notchers so yanked from the hall bedroom to the expansive country estate, private airplane and de luxe suites on the Normandie and Queen Mary.

The sudden ad genius does not have to have special training. Offer he has been the dreamer of a prairie town or a shipping clerk in a city basement. He must have the knack of brevity and flair for the slogan. With these he may often sign on the dotted line at his own figure.

Success story: Anthony Restano is a barber from Italy, 33 years old, who arrived here 15 years ago, penniless and with only a few words of English. Today he owns the 12-chair Anthony's Barbershop Studio, fringing Herald Square. Also he's a third partner in a successful dressmaking establishment and the other day he took over another large barber shop. Too, he owns a family apartment house in Astoria, L. I. An immigrant boy, 18 years of hard work, clean living and there is the old Horatio Alger formula in real life.

Still another: His name is Ludwig and he may be seen peering in his wheel chair selling papers at Thirty-fourth and Broadway. Bankers, shoppers, merchants, clerks and light ladies of the vicinity are charmed by his friendly smile. Ludwig is a victim of the crash paralysis and since one year old has not used his legs. Yet is known for his cheerfulness. He knows everybody by sight, for he is always there to watch them go by in sunshine, storm, icy cold and snow. And Ludwig, whose legs he says, are like stumps, goes to the movies on crutches without his feet touching the ground, as if on stilts. It's good to talk to Ludwig. He makes so many of us whiners feel cheap and unworthy.

Manhattan unsolved mysteries as so sed by the know-it-all whippers: Joseph Elwell, the bridge expert, was slain by a famous society lady; Dorothy Arnold, who vanished, is now a housekeeper in a hotel high in the Swiss Alps; Rudolph Valentino was poisoned with ground glass by a jealous girl in a New York night club and the missing Magistrate Joseph Crater is living as a retired Canadian in Tahiti.

After 10 barehead years, Earl Carroll has begun wearing a hat again. He was the first recruit in an army that gave hat manufacturers "Frank Van Hoven's" "headache built for a horse." Danbury once thought of burning him in effigy. Costing them many thousands. In the beginning Carroll adopted the custom as a panacea for baldness. But his top locks continued to thin. His one big gain by the experiment has been financial. He figures he has in 12 years saved at least $1500 in tips.

The story goes that the Jimmy Walkers, who pined so for New York during their London exile, found it not so pleasant upon return. Hence their sail back to Great Britain so quickly for a stay that may be indefinite. The Walkers' spirits began to droop over the fast buzz over their arrival. They tried to acquire a new interest by adopting a baby. But somehow things were not the same as when Jimmy swashbuckled high, wide and handsomely—with New York at his feet and responding to his every whim. The ban-tam cock of the walk!

Why New York is such fun: She swirled out of a revolving door of the Waldorf, a pert figure in black linen skirt, white pique coat and low-crowned sailor. At the curb she whistled through her teeth at a cab and when it answered to her, she flipped away a cigaret end and with the door half open said: "Listen, baboon, glide me softly. I've just had a fresh finger wave for my waiting hore. So docuement, you mug, docuement!" (Copyright, 1936)

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Vague news of a collision between the President's yacht and a photographer's boat leaked out, but the facts regarding the seriousness of the crash have been carefully concealed. For one brief moment it looked as if the Sewanna, with the Roosevelts aboard, would founder.

Photographers had hired a boat to get close-ups of the President embarking at North Haven, Me., and were told by Marvin McIntyre to wait at the wharf until he was lowered over the side of his destroyer on to the yacht. Then the destroyer would send them a messenger, and they would come close and take all the pictures they wanted.

Three and a half hours passed. No messenger. Finally they noticed the President's flag was being lowered from the destroyer, indicating he had left it. So they started out to catch the Sewanna, manned by Roosevelt and his sons.

PHOTOGRAPHERS ARGUE

By that time, she was well outside the harbor, but they finally caught up with her. Then an argument ensued among the photographers, the newspaper photographers wanting close-ups for still pictures.

Finally the movies were given their chance, then the boat was ordered closer for the stills. About this time a heavy squall came up. Both boats were pitching. The captain of the chartered vessel, being given orders simultaneously by every photographer aboard, tried to get very close to the yacht, at which point a big wave swept the two vessels together.

The President's sons, shrieking curses at the photographers, tried desperately to keep out of the way. But the two boats collided, and the bowsprit of the Sewanna got entangled with the bow of the other boat.

For one brief moment, it looked as if the yacht was going over. But the two ships finally got apart.

The President's sons did not mind words telling the photographers what they thought of them, and orders were given that all future pictures must be taken on land. The incident did not help Roosevelt relations with the Boston press—whatever those relations may be worth.

BY HIS OWN PETARD

Ex-Comptroller General John R. McCarl now knows exactly what is meant by the expression, "hoist by his own petard." His enlightenment came about this way:

On the eve of his retiring from 15 years as watchdog of the treasury, a minor executive in the office opened a subscription list to buy McCarl a farewell gift. When the total pledges were tallied they came to $2,000, and it was decided to buy him an A-1 automobile. Agencies visited and everything was all set for a final check when one of the general accounting office employees quietly produced a forgotten document.

This was a stern ruling by a committee that government workers could not contribute to a fund to buy gifts for a superior officer. McCarl had issued his decree a year earlier, when he learned that AAA employees proposed to buy a watch for an executive.

So McCarl's ukase killed McCarl's $2,000 limousine.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Justice Rests on Natural Worth of Man

In a recent address in San Francisco, a former chairman of the state prison board is quoted as saying: "Justice is a purchasable quantity. Only bums are hanged. In the past 30 years I can't point out one single person hanged in California who had more than $10,000 assets or some influential friends. That is why justice is becoming a purchasable quantity." And of course, the devious ways of law and justice are not peculiar to this state alone. The late Chief Justice Taft remarked that the administration of criminal law in this country is a national disgrace.

Years ago some cynic said, "You can't convict a million dollars." About a year ago doughty old Andy Mellon, goaded into unusual response during his income tax hearings, declared that he would spend the remainder of his days in jail rather than submit to the penalties proposed. Has anybody heard of his being in jail or paying the penalties? The great danger to free institutions has always been, in periods of industrial expansion, the rise of groups and individuals who regard themselves above the limitations and restrictions of common folks.

There is something disgusting in the any manner with which privileged persons flout the laws intended for the general good. Or when public officials presume on their position to take advantage of the state motor vehicle division, using of publicly-owned cars for private purposes, parking in for-

BETTER OR WORSE?

To the Editor: From time to time during the past eight years I have driven north through California. In 1932, 1933 and 1934 upon leaving any town, large or small, would see from two to 20 men and boys trying to thumb a ride to some place and it made no difference which way one went, north or south, east or west, it was the same, always people wanting a ride. Idle restless and hopeless.

One Sunday not long ago I made another trip north and saw but two people thumbing a ride and they were boys probably wanting to get to a ball game. But I did see more new cars with trailers on the road and in the camps than I thought possible. People still traveling, but in a different way. I noted but few youngsters unattached.

In view of the effort of some to make it appear that the present administration is wrecking the country and those same people advising a return to the "sanity" of the days of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, it makes one wonder if they think the people have no memory. In every town and along the countryside were substantial buildings going up. Is this a sign of a country being wrecked? We are told that the banks have more money on deposit than ever before with an assurance that depositors will not lose their money by the closing of the bank.

Is this the way that countries are wrecked? More people are employed and mortgages are being liquidated. Can this wreck a country? If the country was "sound, safe and sane" in 1931, 1932 and 1933 and is being wrecked and ruined now, then everything is cooked and two and two no longer make four.

Let's not be stampeded by the howls and moans of the long favored interest who find their activities curbed. D. P. H.

Remarkable Remarks

In many respects men know more about the proper conduct of women than women themselves. Myrtle Austin, dean of women, University of Utah.

Under the Old Deal, women with rare individual exceptions were stooges or rubber stamps for the men in party government councils.—Miss Mary W. Dewson, New York Democratic leader.

The Southern Pacific railroad arrived at Anaheim in 1875 and at Santa Ana in 1877; not in 1887 and 1889 as stated yesterday in this column.

When the subject of higher wages comes up too many people never stop to think where the higher wages are to come from.

Few friends comes in to report the attractive temperature at the beach, and invites me to test the exhilarating mixture of ice, soda, and their affinity. Just being a country boy I refused, but it took me about 20 minutes to make up my mind.

Political meetings, both closed and open, are being held, but the fellow usually finds out what's going on in the closed as well as the open shop.

It's inescapable—the weather and conversation.

This incident will not appear on the official records but it happened just the same, at the corner of Second and Sycamore. A group of Mexican boys on a food shopping expedition overloaded a small wagon. It refused to go farther than across the street from the market. The front right yielded to the weight of watermelon, pears, sweet corn, potatoes, and other food. All four wheels were different, and none of them very healthy. So when the front right gave up the ghost the SOS went out vigorously and frequently. I didn't stay for the rescue, but it looked to me like the crew wouldn't any more than get one wheel repaired when another would collapse, and assuming my guess was correct I figured it out that most of the food would be worthless by the time the boys reached home, sweet home. There was a big temptation to phone the Grand Central wrecking crew, it being nearest the tragedy, but I was afraid they would not carry the parts for this particular case so I "passed." Another reason was for fear that Charley Creamer might find out later who sent in the call, and that had something to do with my decision.

And the story ran something like this: P. b. m. (in case you need help initials mean prominent business man) having heard of the strike, decided to pick his own oranges. He may have been near-sighted. Anyway he left his glasses on, which proved to be a hindrance rather than a help, as moisture gathered on the lenses, interfering with the vision. So he did what Tarzan did when he laid the glasses aside, then climbed right up again. During the picking a dry leaf rubbed across the eye ball and inflicted a cut which cancelled the orange picking. When my friend was telling me the story I thought he was going to say that when the "strike breaker" got down from the tree he stepped on his glasses. It didn't happen, so the incident has no interest for the optimist.

I have a friend who has some friends out from the east on their first trip to California. He wanted to show them Orange county and he kept it up until 2 o'clock in the morning. Then it got too dark.

It isn't so very far to Newport but it's too far to walk to see why you find south Main street spotted with hitch-hikers, who want to get to the beach quickly and cheaply. The school vacation contributes to the number. It is just human nature to want to swim. Even if it's social, the folks want to be in it. A sympathetic friend suggests that many of the water-minded lads would be willing and are able to pay ten cents for a ride to the beach, but the private conveyance isn't permitted to make a charge. On the other hand ten cents will buy a "hot dog." So I imagine the thumb signal will prevail until the "kids" are called back to the school room.

Harry Edwards has returned from vacation and calls for a committee on equality. He comes out of a three days snow storm into the torridity of what have you?

And it would happen to me that I would ask for the location of a competitive newspaper. That wasn't the worst of it. I was with a friend who wanted to assist me in diverting the tourist's attention to the paper I was identified with, but with unselfish insistence the tourist gave the information he asked for. That was one way of establishing faith in my friend, and the tourist wouldn't know the difference anyway.

Someone persuaded me to buy a ticket which has on one end of it an automobile. Try and get it! I paid 25 cents for the end I hold. I'm willing to trade it for the automobile part of the ticket.

My friend Spencer, who manages KVOE had one of the radio boys read paragraphs out of my column, and the next day he asked me what I thought about it. You can't lie to Spencer, because he will catch you at it, so I told him I thought it was read about as well as I wrote it. The split the responsibility. There wasn't any honor in it.
